[C]// I had [F] nothing to do on this hot afternoon, but to set[G]-tle down and write you a [C] line,

I been [F]meaning to phone you, but from Minnesota,

[G] hell, it's been a very long [C] time.

You wear it [G] well, [Dm] a little old [Em7] fashioned [F] but that's all [G] right.

[C]// Well, I [F] suppose you're thinking, I'll bet he's sinking, or he wou[G]-dn't get in touch with [C] me.

No, I [F] ain't begging or losing my head,

I [G] sure do want you to [C] know that you wear it [G] well [Dm] there ain't a[Em7] lady in the[F] land so [G] fine, oh my.

[C]// Remember those [F] basement parties, and your brother's karate,

[G] all day rock and roll [C] shows,

them [F] homesick blues and the radical views

[G] haven't left a mark on [C] you.

You wear it [G] well, [Dm] a little out of [Em7] time, but [F] I don't [G] mind.

But I [C] ain't [F] forgetting that you were once [C] mine, but I [F] blew it without even[C] trying.

Now I'm [F] eating my heart out [G] trying to get a letter [C] through.

+ [F]Since you've been [Em7]gone it's hard to [F]carry [G]on.

I want to [C]write about the [F]birthday gown that I bought in town, as you sat [G]down and cried on the [C]stairs.

You knew it didn't [F]cost the earth, but for what it's worth,

you [G]made me feel a million[C]aire, and you wear it [G]well, [Dm]Madame [Em7]Onassis got [F]nothing on [G]you.

[C]//Anyway, my [F]coffee's cold, and I'm gettin told that I [G]gotta get back to [C]work.

So when the [F]sun goes low and you're home alone,

[G]think of me and try not to [C]laugh, and I wear it [G]well, [Dm] I don't [Em7]object if you [F]call [G]collect.

'Cause I [C]ain't [F]forgetting that you were once [C] mine

but I [F]blew it without even [C]trying

Now I'm [F]eating my heart out [G]trying to get back to [C]you.
